Frost Damage in Northwest. CHICAGO, ILL, May 14 -- From report

CHICAGO, II.L., May 14.—From reports received from many States last night, wheat, oats, and barley have virtually been uninjured by the biting frosts. Throughout the Northwest, however, grain men think that corn and flax will suffer. In Misnesota, corn already up was nipped to the ground, and vegetables and fruit-trees have suffered severely. In some parts of Wisconsin the frest worked great damage to corn and barley. While lowa reported wheat and oats only retarded for a few days and crops safe, last night's dispatches showed that fruit and garden truck felt the blight of the frost. Reports of railroad agents came pouring into Chicago offices yesterday, conveying similar information, with the same gloomy outlook for fruit and vegitables. Illinois and Indhana have fared well, but this morning's predicted frost may cause considerable damage. Nebraska, Dekota, and Missouri also suffered, but the wheat crop has barely been touched.
